WHO: Beginner to intermediate players, ages 4 - 13. Involving parents/guardians as caddies, guides, mentors and team coaches.

WHAT: This on-course developmental program focuses on transforming a family unit into a team that learns about golf together. The program shows the parents and families how to aid their children's golf instruction as guides, caddies, fans and coaches. The key theme and goal of this program is to develop team building and leadership skills. We will show the golfers, the coaches (i.e. parents and other family members) and caddies when and how to lead and make decisions. We have also developed a curriculum that uses developmental theories as the basis for the instructional process. In the end, this program will help the family grow closer together, learn about golf, and have fun with golf!

FORMAT: This program will be divided into three different two week segments. The first segment, weeks one and two, will be Teaching. Players and parents will learn on-course playing format. Parents will learn how to become course guides and mentors. The second segment, weeks three and four, will be Coaching. During this segment players and parents will utilize what they learned during the first segment with feedback from the instructor. The third segment, weeks five and six, will be Facilitating.
